Community Choir

In Georgian culture, wine enjoys a sacred status and polyphonic singing is ubiquitous. The logical consequence: wine is celebrated in song! And in every form it takes: as a vine, during the harvest, during pressing ... and, of course, when it is being enjoyed.

Fancy giving it a go? Then do come along and learn these songs! As a general rule, singing makes you happy – and singing together makes you even happier! It's also a great opportunity to discover your own voice in a playful way.

Anyone who enjoys it is welcome to join in. No prior experience or ability to read music is required.
