

I hate people. A reproduction

Julius Fischer

- Deutschland

I hate people. Procreation.

Actually, Julius Fischer didn't want to hate people any more. He wanted to spread positivity, give compliments, love and be loved. But he hadn't reckoned with people. And then he ended up with two children. Well, 'ended up' isn't quite right. He was there for it. He's written a book about it.

A book for everyone who has children too. Or who doesn't want any. As part of the book tour, he reads – as you can all imagine – the funniest passages from the book and, in between, sings love songs without a happy ending.

And since the world's coming to an end soon anyway, an evening like this can't do any harm.

"I'd go and see it if I didn't have a gig of my own!" – Julius Fischer
