DROP ME IF YOU DARE

explores the sensitivity and connection between two people. Their encounter gives rise to fascinating contrasts that do not exclude one another, but rather complement each other.

Can strength also mean relaxation? Can we be heavy yet light, grounded yet floating? Devoted yet self-determined? Is it possible to unite strength and vulnerability in a single moment? Can we trust one another so deeply that we let ourselves fall into the air?

Through impressive acrobatics and great physical precision, a dialogue unfolds between two bodies. Striking a balance between devotion and responsibility, a sensitive, moving piece emerges in which the bodies complement one another as if it were the most natural thing in the world, and humanity is revealed in a striking way.
