

The Saxonz & Miller de Nobili

"Second meeting"

- International

“The Saxonz” are made up of Saxony’s most performance-oriented dancers. In early 2013, three regional groups joined forces to form a dance crew with the aim of achieving national and international success together. Within just twelve months, they had secured a leading position on the German breakdance scene and crowned themselves unofficial German champions with two consecutive victories at the ‘Battle of the Year’ in 2014 and 2015.

Despite their diverse personalities, all members share the same enthusiasm for dance, which is reflected in their rousing choreographies and entertaining stage shows. Through collaborations with renowned institutions such as the Festspielhaus Hellerau, the Semperoper Dresden and the State Chancellery of Dresden (commissioner of the ‘So geht sächsisch’ campaign), they have also made a name for themselves beyond the breakdance community.

Alongside their work as dancers, they are committed to nurturing young talent and regularly run courses and workshops for children and young people. The fusion of different dance styles enables ‘The Saxonz’ to move seamlessly between artistic dance theatre and competitive battles – always with impressive results.

For their work, they received the Hanna Johannes Arras Foundation’s Art Prize in 2016 and were awarded the Art and Culture Prize of the State Capital of Dresden in 2023.

At the 34th Autumn and Wine Festival, The Saxonz & Miller de Nobili will be performing together. Miller de Nobili are a dance company based in Dresden. The company develops interdisciplinary pieces at the intersection of urban and contemporary dance and theatre.

Look forward to an exciting fusion of dance.
